This voicemail service provides greater capacity and call handling customisability over the Embedded Voicemail. The application requires various licenses entered into the IP Office configuration to control the features it offers and the number of simultaneous connections (40). It also enables support for call recording, text-to-speech (TTS) and a range of other features.

- Using Voicemail Pro, queued callers can customize the actions available to them as well as the greeting messages.
- Voicemail Pro does not control the queuing of calls. Queuing is controlled by the IP Office switch that presents queued and still queued calls at the appropriate times and provides the queue position and ETA data.
- Messaging
