Jawa Dwipa dilanda kesuraman. Kerajaan saling berperang. Kejahatan dan ketidakadilan bertebaran di mana-mana. Ujung cambuk itu memelasat, nyaris menyambar ujung rambutnya. Bocah itu melompat berusaha menghentikan polah Cambuk Maut yang haus darah. Di tangannya, terenggam kujang dengan kilau menyala-nyala. [Mizan, Bentang, Kerajaan, Kesatria, Indonesia] Semua mata terkesima. Kudi hyang! Itulah senjata pusaka legendaris yang hanya dimiliki tokoh-tokoh hebat masa lalu di tataran Sunda. Ketika ujung kudi hyang membentur logam baja di ujung cambuk dan memapas leher cambuk itu, seruan kaget terlontar serempak dari mulut para pendekar. Cambuk mahadahsyat itu patah begitu saja. Sungguh, kehebatan kudi hyang bukanlah bualan belaka. Siapa bocah itu? Dan, mengapa senjata itu ada di tangannya? Jawa Dwipa dilanda kesuraman. Kerajaan saling berperang. Encyclopedia of Sundanese arts and culture (including Cirebon and Betawi arts and culture), West Java, Indonesia.

This book is the first work that comprehensively presents the accounts of Lia Eden, a former flower arranger who claims to have received divine messages from the Archangel Gabriel and founded the divine Eden Kingdom in her house in Jakarta. This book places Lia Eden's prophetic trajectory in the context of diverse Indonesian spiritual and religious traditions, by which hundreds of others also claimed to have been commanded by God to lead people and to establish religious groups. This book offers a fresh approach towards the rich Indonesian religious and spiritual traditions with particular attention to the accounts of the emergence of indigenous prophets who founded some popular religions. It presents the history of prophetic tradition which remains alive in Indonesian society from the colonial to reform period. It also explores the ways in which these prophets rebelled against two hegemonies: colonial power in the past and Islamic orthodoxy in the present. The discussion of this book focuses on Lia Eden including her biography, claims to prophethood and divinity, the development of her group Eden Kingdom, her challenge to Islamic orthodoxy under the banner of the MUI (Indonesian Ulama Council), her persecution by radical groups, her experiences in court trials and imprisonment, and public responses to her emergence. The discussion also covers other themes currently drawing public attention in Indonesia, such as pluralism, religious freedom, tolerance, discrimination against minorities, and secularisation.

Account of Bacharuddin Jusuf Habibie, third president of the Republic of Indonesia, and his role in bringing Indonesia towards democracy.

London, 1501. Henry VII's heir is dead... Elizabeth, his queen, fears foul play, but who can she trust with her suspicions that their son has been murdered? In her darkest hour she turns to Varina Wescott, a lowly candle maker and widow. Despite the difference in their stations they share a bond. Both women know the sorrow of losing a child. Varina is tasked with discovering all she can about the Prince's death. Aided by the handsome and ambitious Nicholas Sutton, Varina's mission will be a difficult one, as both Henry and Elizabeth have enemies determined to bring down the Tudor dynasty...

The nature and leading exponents of the structuralist movement are considered as well as the structural poetics of fiction and drama

This book completely changes the established and conventional view of prehistory by relocating the Lost Eden—the world's first civilisation—to Southeast Asia. At the end of the Ice Age, Southeast Asia formed a continent twice the size of India, which included Indochina, Malaysia, Indonesia, and Borneo. In Eden in the East, Stephen Oppenheimer puts forward the astonishing argument that here in southeast Asia—rather than in Mesopotamia where it is usually placed—was the lost civilization that fertilized the Great cultures of the Middle East 6,000 years ago. He produces evidence from ethnography, archaeology, oceanography, creation stories, myths, linguistics, and DNA analysis to argue that this founding civilization was destroyed by a catastrophic flood, caused by a rapid rise in the sea level at the end of the last ice age.
